UNFORGETTABLE

Unforgettable

Looking back upon our years at Longmeadow High School, many special memories stand out in each of our minds. We remember Freshman year: our first day of high school, learning not to get up at the ten-minute warning bell, and breaking the Glenbrook and Williams barriers. We remember Sophomore year: moving up on the "totem poll," getting more involved in school, and our first semi-formal. We remember Junior year: becoming an upper-classman, having free blocks, and researching term papers. And we remember Senior year: applying to college, leading the school, and senior week. Also embedded in our minds are the everyday occurrences: the announcements, school lunch, and favorite faculty members and classes. LHS would not be what it is without the clubs, sports teams, and of course all the friendships formed while at our school. The 1992 Yearbook captures all of the moments, for they are all unforgettable.

Sarah Kittredge and Kathlene Kielbania,
Editors-in-Chief

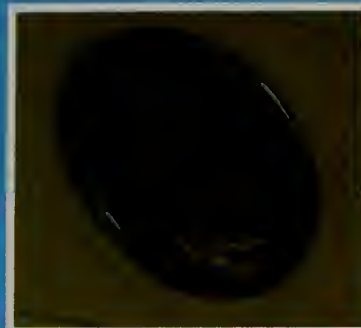

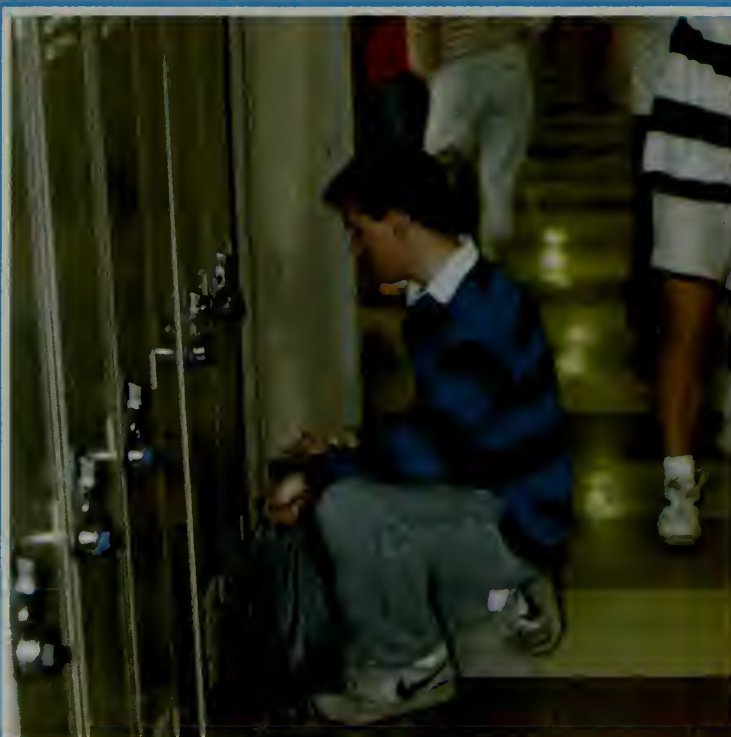

Top- Graduates have walked hundreds of miles through the halls during their four years at LHS.

Middle, Right- Although Mr. Santos is unforgettable, teachers and students alike will always remember hall monitors also.

Top, Right- Senior Mark Delaney gets books from his locker after a long school day. During one's four years at LHS, this will be done 701 times.

DEDICATION

This year, the Yearbook is dedicated to an unforgettable person, Mr. Brian Cogswell. "Cogs," as he is affectionately called by his students, teaches all Junior Physical Education classes as well as two Senior classes.

From reciting commercials from memory in between softball innings to asking for any "questions, comments, . . . concerns" after every class, Cogs is always having fun. His enthusiasm rubs off on all of his students, too.

Mr. Cogswell came to Longmeadow High School in the fall of 1986, as Assistant Varsity Football Line Coach. It was not until January of 1989, the year that the Seniors were freshmen, that he started teaching here. In the past, Cogs has also coached J.V. Baseball, J.V. Basketball, and Varsity Basketball, as well as running intramurals during the school year and a basketball camp over the summer. This year, Cogs again coached Varsity Basketball and Football, helping to lead the team to an undefeated regular season.

Coach Cogswell's involvement does not stop with teaching and coaching; he also announced the Daisy-Weeds football game and played in a benefit basketball game between the Faculty All-Stars and the Fabulous Magicians. Cogs has had an impact on everyone he has taught. He is a special teacher and friend. Therefore, to the students of LHS, Mr. Brian Cogswell will always remain unforgettable.

Student Life

Student interests and activities branch into many directions. Led by the four class councils, the high school holds a variety of functions each year. These include school spirit activities like the bonfire and pep-rally, school dances and semi-formals, senior activities like the Daisy-Weeds game, and entertaining programs like the Variety Show, concerts, and Magicians game. These activities provide entertainment and fun for the student body, as well as create class unity and friendships. Outside of school, students also pursue jobs and activities. This unbelievable time in every student's life happens only once in a lifetime. Whatever the directions, the unique talents of each student combine to create an unforgettably accomplished and diversified student body.

Class Councils

Taking a Stand

The class councils provide leadership and motivation for the students at LHS. Every year, a governing body is elected for each class. These officers hold meetings, plan activities, and serve as an intermediary between the school, community, and students. During the year, every class holds fund-raisers and social events. These functions, however, vary for each class. The freshman class holds freshman socials, where students from the two middle schools have an opportunity to meet one another. The sophomore class had its first semi-formal at Bay Path College this year, where students dressed to impress. Also, the class sold Super-bowl t-shirts as a fund-raiser. The junior class attended the Halloween Dance and Junior/Senior semi-formal with the seniors this year. The class also sold M&M's and had a car wash to provide funds for their Senior year. The senior class has had an annual candy bar sale. The money from this helped fund the Senior Prom and other Senior Week activities. Although the classes hold individual events, they also convene to do community service projects, such as the town-wide can drive. Through all of their projects and activities, the classes became more involved with their school and community.

FRESHMEN- Treasurer C.J. Diamond, President Jay Heaps, Vice President Scott Brown, and Secretary Amy Kim.

SOPHOMORES- Advisor Mr. Gelinas, President Jesse Sweet, Treasurer Eddie Schultz, Advisor Mrs. Bayley, Secretary Mike Atheneos, and Vice President Mike Werman.

JUNIORS- Treasurer Elizabeth Haesy, President Zac Stillerman, Vice President Whitney Harrelson, and Secretary Taryn Barkman.

Frosh Orientation/Dance

A New Experience

In accordance with tradition, the freshmen started school a day early this year. With the help of volunteering upper-classmen, the freshmen became acquainted with their new environment and quelled some of their fears and concerns. Throughout the day, the freshmen asked questions, had their ID's taken, were given a tour of the high school, and went to all of their classes to meet their teachers. Following this, the clubs held an organizations fair where students familiarized themselves with the LHS offerings.

On September 6, the freshmen held a "Freshmen Social," where students from the two middle schools had an opportunity to meet. The event took place in the cafeteria and music was provided by a DJ. Most of the freshmen class attended, and the event was a success. As freshman Kori Kielbania said, "It was fun because you got to meet a lot of new people."

Kathlene Kielbania

Top, Right- A freshman enters through the front doors as he embarks on his first day at a new school.

Middle, Right- Freshman Jessica Farrand learns more about what LHS has to offer from Juniors Deb Zollmann, Heather Lawrence, and Robert Joyce.

NHS Induction

Academic Excellence

Friday afternoon of October 25th, the National Honor Society held its annual induction tea. Families and friends came to show their support and pride in the students who were inducted. The ceremony began with speeches made by all of the officers. President Michael Nadel, Vice-President Elisa Hoffman, Corresponding Secretary Parisa Golkar, Social Secretary Mark Sedran, Treasurer Mike Gregorski, and Tutoring Chairpersons Brenna Sheehan and LaShaun Skillings all spoke about their jobs and the role that they and the Honor Society play in the school. This includes running the bookstore, providing complimentary tutoring for students, and granting scholarships for selected seniors. The assembly also heard a speech by Dr. Murphy and music by the brass choir. Many National Honor Society members attended the ceremony to show support for their friends and the society. After the certificates and pins were presented, all were invited to a lovely reception, catered by the club's members. It was a very successful afternoon.

Bonfire

Blazing up the Night

Lancer spirit blazed despite the chilled weather at the annual Longmeadow High School bonfire on Friday, September 20, the eve of the first home football game. A social as well as sports-orientated event, the bonfire was well attended by students of all four classes.

Before lighting the fire, a rally was held for all the fall teams. Team captains made brief speeches in support of their teams and introduced the players. The crowd of students, administrators, parents, and siblings encouraged the teams. The cheerleaders performed the "roll call" in which they announced the football team's starting line, and their crowd-pleasing "cha-cha" cheer. Their routine culminated in a 12-person pyramid configuration.

After the rally, the huge teepee of wood donated by Astro Chemicals was doused with gasoline by Key Club members and set aflame. It was one of the first fall-like nights of the year, and students huddled to the fire for warmth.

The bonfire was organized by the L.H.S. Key Club. Club secretary Parisa Golkar commented, "It was one of our most successful bonfires. We were really happy with the student turn-out."

The following afternoon, the same enthusiasm that was demonstrated at the bonfire was present at the first home football game. The Lancers beat the Minnechaug Falcons 48 to 6.

Halloween Dance

A Change of Character

The arrival of October brings the inevitable question of what to be for the Halloween Dance. This year, the Juniors' and Seniors' spectacular costumes ranged from Gorbachev to monks, from cowgirls to clowns. The event was held on Saturday, October 26th from 7:30 to 11:30. This year for the first time, the dance took place at the Community House. A committee of seniors arrived early to decorate the room for the occasion. Banners and streamers were placed everywhere to transform the room into a mystical haunted house.

Although originally skeptical about the location, everyone had a great time. As Senior Ken Chase said, "The enthusiasm of the Juniors and Seniors lit up the Community House." Favorite tunes were blasted by the D.J., and the floor swayed under the pounding of dancing feet. Junior Betsy Rowland was pleased with the event, "I had a great time and it was fun socializing with my friends." The event provided a great fund raiser for the Senior Class, as well as a festive celebration for everyone.

Daisy/Weeds

Seeds of Victory

What's yellow and white or green and white and filled with spirit? The Daisy and Weed football players! Once again this year the Senior girls participated in a traditional flag football game. Held after the Thanksgiving pep rally, students and parents met on the football field for the event. Previously, both teams held practice under the instruction of the teacher and student coaches. Daisy coaches were Mrs. Presz and Mr. Carle, and student coaches were Jim Hatch, Jeff Kramer, and Mike Kotwicki. Weed coaches were Miss LeMoine, Mr. Reilly, and Mr. Maestas, and student coaches were Glen Rogers, Mike Cohen, and Jay Leonovich. Team members had customized sweatshirts made up, and purchased yellow or green sweatpants to finish the uniform. At the game, referees were Mr. Kirkpatrick, Mr. Delano, and Mr. Hirsh. Enthusiasm was created from players, cheerleaders, and the crowd.

Senior boys dressed as cheerleaders in skirts, sweaters, and wigs, and did cheers and pyramids on the sidelines. Touchdowns were scored through the amazing runs of Erin Dullea, Kara Ryczek, Rachel LeDuc, and Naomi Herman. The game ended with a Weed's victory, 22-18. The game was exciting and provided an enthusiastic time for the Senior class to come together. Cheerleader Dave Dibble summed up the event well when he said, "The spirit we have here at LHS was represented at this unique event. Everyone had a great time!"

College Experience

Moving Onward

College searches have both advantages and disadvantages. Unfortunately, filling out applications, taking tests, and waiting for the college's reply letter is nerve-racking. However, the college hunt has its perks, too.

By visiting colleges, students saw first-hand which ones they liked and disliked. For most, this experience was very exciting, whether one travels down south, out west, or stays here in the northeast. Although some are huge and others small, students see that college campuses are some of the most beautiful places in the United States.

Along with visiting the colleges, going on tours, and having interviews, most students bring college paraphernalia back with them. The most popular places on college campuses visited by prospective students are the bookstores and gift shop. Throughout the halls of LHS, students proudly display loyalty to colleges by wearing sweat-shirts, hats, and t-shirts of their favorite schools.

Of course, the best part about college is the excitement of receiving your acceptance letter "on or about April 15th". You are congratulated by all of your friends and family and are very much relieved. However much anxiety college searching brings to you, it is something to be cherished, because it only happens once in a lifetime — hopefully.

Senior Lounge

Lounging Around

The eclectic variety of furniture, the murals of famous actors and singers, the brilliant lights of the soda machine — all of these aspects create the familiar place that seniors call home, the Senior Lounge. A special privilege for these upperclassmen, the lounge provides a place where Seniors can relax, socialize, and even study. While some listen to favorite tapes in their walkmans, others conduct a small game of touch football using the couches as end zones. This year's Senior Class changed precedent by renting the use of the soda machine themselves. The money collected from soda purchases, therefore, returns to the Senior Class and is used to fund Senior Week activities. The Class of 1992 also added to the lounge this year by allowing artists Amanda Lyons and Todd Levine to paint on a wall. Most importantly, though, the lounge provides a place where Senior class members can become unified through informal social interaction.

Fruit Sale

Orange You Hungry?

On Saturday December 7, the LHS Music groups sold lots of delicious oranges and grapefruits in their annual Fruit Sale. Despite the incredible talent pooled in the instrumental and choral groups at LHS a tight budget often takes away from resources available to capable instructors Mr. Mucci and Mr. Thompson. The money is raised by students and will pay for sheet music, buses, and much-needed equipment. Students went door to door to sell boxes of fruit to hungry family members, neighbors and friends. Then on the seventh, the fruit arrived and students worked hard to distribute the fruit to the purchasers. One junior said, "even though its hard work, the fruit sale is fun" showing the Lancers persevering spirit. Mr. Mucci was very happy about this year's success. We wish the music groups good luck in improving upon their repeated successes again next year.

SADD Dance/ Hawaiian Luau

Movin' to the Beat

Longmeadow High School sponsored two school-wide dances this year. November 22 was the evening of yet another successful drug-free dance sponsored by S.A.D.D. Members of all classes danced the night away to D.J. "Rack-a-Disc's" magical music mixes. Soda and various snacks were available for munchies. A high point of the evening was a lip synch contest. Representatives of all the classes participated "which made the dance that more fun!" exclaimed a satisfied Junior Elana Sorrell. Junior Lauren Buchanan explained "It was better than other dances because of the awesome music and the video screen." The screen was popular because it displayed the videos of the songs played by Rack-a-Disc, and intermingled anti-drug messages and ads combating drinking and driving. In all it was an exciting and spirited event.

The feeling tropical breezes cooled the students as they danced through palm trees and under swaying streamers at the Luau on December 13. Sponsored by the Senior Class, it attracted all classes and even a few graduates because of its low ticket price and promise of a spectacular time. Students adorned with leis danced the night away with friends while a variety of music played. Freshman Kateri Egan had a terrific time because "I saw all my friends and mingled with upper-classmen." Junior Carly Friedman also proclaimed, "I had an awesome time and I hope the Luau becomes an annual event."

Sophomore Semi

A Night to Remember

On November first, about 225 people met at Longmeadow High School. They boarded the bus that whisked them to the Blake Center at Bay Path College for the annual Sophomore Semi-Formal.

Instead of the traditional Chez Joseph, students ate, talked, and danced the night away at Bay Path College, although most were skeptical about the new location and bussing. Bussing was instrumented to prevent the presence of alcohol. Although security was tight, this did not put a damper on the students' fun. As Sophomore Martha Shay said, "At first I thought the semi-formal wasn't going to be that good, but at the end, I was sorry it was over!"

At the conclusion of the evening, students reboarded the busses that returned them to Longmeadow High School. Overall, this year's semi-formal was a success. This enjoyable evening was memorable for all who attended.

Jr/Sr Semi-Formal

Extraordinary

Record-breaking temperature did not keep excited Juniors and Seniors from attending the 1992 Semi-formal. Taking place on January 18, the Junior-Senior Semi-formal started at 7:30. Prior to the dance, many students went to dinner at various restaurants in the area. The dance was held at the Marriot in the Grand Ballroom, differing from past years when the dance was held at Chez Josef. Senior Parisse Spelios felt that "it was a nice change."

A photographer was present to take pictures of couples, and many took advantage of this service. The DJ played a broad spectrum of songs ranging from "Don't Cry" by Guns and Roses to "You've Lost That Lovin' Feeling" by The Righteous Brothers. The fabulous tunes took the chill off of the evening and made it a great night for everyone. According to Senior Paul Illouz, "The DJ was great, even though he didn't play Nirvana."

The dance was attended by four hundred people, making it a "huge success" says Senior Emily Lord. As in the past, the profits were evenly divided between the Senior and Junior classes. These profits always go towards levying the heavy costs of senior week. All in all, the Junior-Senior Semi-formal was a fun and exciting evening and will be unforgettable for years to come.

Variety Show

Imagine the Talent

The Key Club's 1992 Variety Show was an excellent showcase of the amazing talent at Longmeadow High School. "Imagine," like past shows, had a thought provoking and innovative title and message. Greg Bibeau, the show's producer, said he was "impressed by the outcome, because we suffered a great number of setbacks." The M.C.'s Brad Miller, Jen Bucalo, and Mike Cohen added comedy throughout the show. "I'm too Sexy," the Fabulous Bugle Boys, and Wayne's World were just a few of the hilarious skits that the three performed between acts.

There were great bands who played and sang country, jazz, and rock classics. Dance performances, a piano selection, the 2

Krazy Clowns, and a musical quartet added diversity and pleasure to the show. Even guest stars appeared. Seth Shomes sang "Piano Man" with Emily Lord and Jenny Mendelson also sang. A notable act was the Saturday Night Fever dance, performed by Chris Bayley and Brad Miller. Every person laughed to tears during the performance and many wondered how the two could keep a straight face.

"Imagine" not only entertained its audience but it also set forth a dream for the future. The voices of the audience singing the song "Imagine" in harmony reminded everyone in the Longmeadow High School auditorium what a peaceful and enjoyable place a united world would be.

Concerts

Extraordinary Talents

The talent exploded at LHS this year. Each concert was unique and depicted various musical styles. The Chamber Music Concert, held in the library under dim lights, created a romantic atmosphere. A sextet, quartet and Lyrics performed, as well as a beautiful string duet by Junior Heidi Harbison and Senior Christina Heaphy.

Next on the calender was the Fall Concert. It showcased Concert Band, Men's Chorus, Girls' Chorus, and Concert Chorus. Teaching Assistant Mark Thomas led Concert Chorus in their performance.

In December, the Winter Concert had performances by Wind Ensemble, Enchante, and Orchestra. An appropriate song for the time of year, "Silent Night," was sung by Enchante. An unforgettable part of the concert was Sophomore David Lao's performance of the piano, playing Mozart's 23rd Concerto.

The Pops Concert featured all choruses, combined Concert Band and Wind Ensemble, and the Jazz Band. The combined bands performed songs from the movie, Robin Hood. Jazz Band exploded onto the stage with a rendition of "Georgia On My Mind," featuring Senior Dave Mott. They deserved the standing ovation that they received. The grand finale was all the choruses singing "I Still Haven't Found What I'm Looking For," with solos by Sophomore Matt Cole and Corlene Taylor. LHS is fortunate to have so much talent within its hallowed halls.

Intramurals

Sporting It All

Okay, maybe you're not good enough or don't wish to make the time commitment to play varsity sports. Luckily, LHS is able to put together intramural sports that let students create their own teams (as well as unique team names) and have a fun time playing other LHS teams. Intramurals offers a fun chance to play football, basketball, and volleyball with less pressure. In the fall some fierce rivalries were created during T.F.L.(Touch Football League). The top four teams made the playoffs with a senior team, Gunny Runch, triumphing over all others.

Winter brought about intense basketball, and boys' and girls' volleyball games. Basketball games were played after school, with a close battle for court supremacy between the Red E's, Just Give Us the Trophies, and Bo Knows, We Don't. The fast paced volleyball action took place during some afternoons and the evenings, with heavy competition in both leagues. The victors in the boys' league were the Mad Hatters, who got fierce competition from the Gunners. In the girls' league, SMAK reigned supreme for the second year in a row, but had some good scares from Squash Posse and OFP. Both victorious teams were comprised of mainly seniors. Longmeadow High School students enjoy the intramural program co-ordinated by Mr. Leblanc. As volleyball player Elisa Hoffman said, "It's a great way to have fun with your friends and it provides a nice study break!"

Magicians

Shootin' Hoops

Sponsored by the Key Club, Marques Haynes' Fabulous Magicians came to LHS to take on the Faculty All-Stars for the second consecutive year. Captained by Mr. Cogswell, the faculty team consisted of Mr. Bush, Mr. Maestas, Mr. Newlin, Mr. Reilly, Mr. LeBlanc, Mr. Dyson from Glenbrook, Mr. Jangl from Williams, and Mr. Ciesluk, principal of Wolf Swamp. Our team even had their own cheerleaders: Mrs. Presz, Miss Lemoine, Mr. Ostrander, Mrs. Sedran, principal of Williams, Mr. Hoyt, principal of Blueberry, and Mr. Tripp, principal of Center School.

Captain Valentino of the Magicians led his team's traditional escapades. During the game, they did the famous weave, half-court hook shots, taking a woman's purse from the stands, the ball on a string and deflated ball tricks, and of course, the comical razzing of opposing players.

One of the evening's highlights was the half-time show. Captain Valentino brought kids out on the court for a mini-hoop shooting and a quick-reflex catching contest. The winners received player's autographed pictures. A great time was had by all.

Although the faculty was powered by Mr. Cogswell and Mr. Maestas, the Magicians prevailed 114-98. Longmeadow was helped in the game by secret-weapon scoreboard controller, Mr. Daniels. Only on a terrific Magicians evening could a basket be worth 14 points.

Arlen Schweiger

On The Job

Saving or Spending

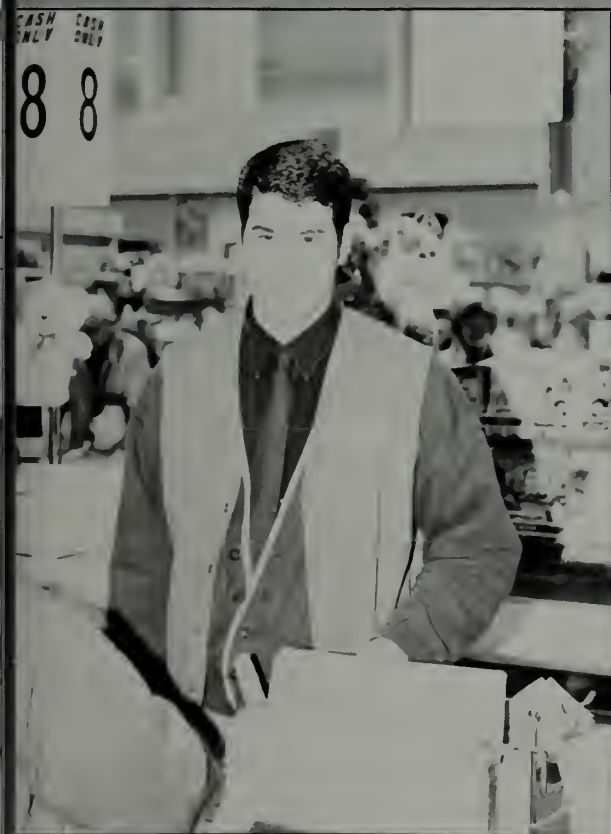

What takes up the afternoons and weekends of Longmeadow High School students? Many students are making money for the future by getting jobs. Popular spots include the Longmeadow Shops, Big Y, and McDonald's. There are many opportunities right here in Longmeadow for a determined, hard-working individual. The Longmeadow Shops are easy to get to and provide excellent job choices, such as Steiger's, Friendly's, and Gilbert's. "It's great to know I'm making money for my future," says Junior Seth Epstein. People work at the popular Big Y either as a bagger or a cashier. Junior Ben Hill states, "I like making my own money, independently."

Not all the jobs, however, are held for money. Many Longmeadow High School students pursue volunteer work at places such as Mercy and Baystate Hospitals and the soup kitchen, Loaves and Fishes. "It was a great accomplishment just knowing my way around the hospital," joked Junior Carly Friedman. She added, "I liked working there because I felt needed."

Whether babysitting or waitressing, jobs show initiative and determination in the students' character. They also prepare the young people for their lives ahead of them.

Embarrassment

Making Mistakes

What is the most embarrassing thing that has ever happened to you at Longmeadow High School? Most students would say falling down the stairs with an armload of books while a group of upperclassmen was walking up the other side, or walking into the wrong restroom. There is, however, an exceptional few who remember with horror the times when they wore different shoes to school, or when they were sliding down a railing and fell into the arms of a teacher.

The fact is that embarrassing things happen to everyone — even to the fine students at Longmeadow High School. Of course, every year the class destined for seemingly eternal embarrassment is the young and innocent freshmen class. They collide into everyone within five feet with their loaded backpacks, go into the opposite sex's bathrooms, or into the senior lounge as they try desperately to find room 25 (student office), 53 (open space), or the cafeteria, or get up at the ten minute bell during class.

Although these humiliating moments are embarrassing, they are the types of experiences that make students at Longmeadow High School learn and mature. They also make our high school years eventful and unforgettable.

LHS Spirit

Going Strong

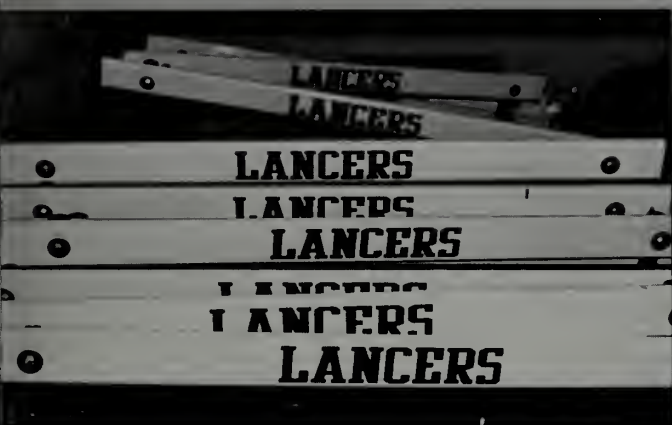

Spirit. The dictionary defines it as a strong sense of loyalty and devotion. How is it defined at LHS? Is it through sports? Through dances? Through clubs? The answer: All of the above!

Spirit is something that is manifested in all aspects of life at Longmeadow High, and this year was no exception. Take, for example, sports. At almost any sporting event, one may find hundreds of LHS students, as well as the band, cheering on the Lancers and promoting spirit. Many teams show their spirit by dressing up the day of a big game or meet. Each team member may wear a tie-dyed shirt or a hat or tie to further promote team spirit. Pertaining to Lancer spirit, Longmeadow High School also hosts two popular events: the Key Club sponsored bonfire in September and the pep rally the day before the Thanksgiving Day Football game.

Students show their school spirit by attending school-sponsored dances. This year's dances, including both semi-formals, were all big successes. School spirit is also evident in club participation. Many clubs this year, such as SADD, AFS, and the ever-popular Key Club, are certainly not at a loss for members! Yes- the spirit is definitely strong at LHS!

Studying

Making the Grade

Studying is one of the biggest parts of a student's life at Longmeadow High School. Not only does it demand a majority of a student's free time after school, but studying also prepares a student for the years ahead. Good studying in subjects such as English, mathematics, science, history, and foreign languages provides a student with a solid understanding of the world around him/her. A student uses the knowledge he/she has gained from high school to further study and train for college.

Most students study in any place available to them: the cafeteria, the library, hiding in a niche in the pool hallway, a bathroom, or just in an empty classroom. Studying takes various amounts of time to complete. Some students, in order to cram for a final, will take drastic measures and "pull an all-nighter".

Most students have some particular vices which they engage in while studying. These include eating a certain food such as popcorn, potato chips, or chocolate. Others rely on stuffed animals or a sentimental memento to provide support and comfort while they are studying.

Wherever you study or whatever you use to help you, the fact still remains that studying is a necessity for a successful academic career. With the proper study habits, initiative, and desire, the students at Longmeadow High School can, and do, achieve success.

Passing Period

Precious Minutes

Passing time. Those precious five minutes granted to us between classes are perhaps the busiest times of the day. How does one accomplish anything other than rushing to one's locker in the time allotted? You'd be surprised! Here are just a few of the ways LHS students "pass the time":

- 1) go to the bathroom (teachers seem to think there is time.)
- 2) run to the cafeteria for a doughnut (so what if you use your lunch money!)
- 3) flirt (no explanation needed!)
- 4) gossip about the exciting town occurrences.
- 5) go to library and get those sources needed for the next block (and discover you're on the library's most wanted list.)

6) call a sick friend (and wish you were home too.)

7) go to office for a message (how bad could it be?)

8) run to car for homework (and get accused of leaving school.)

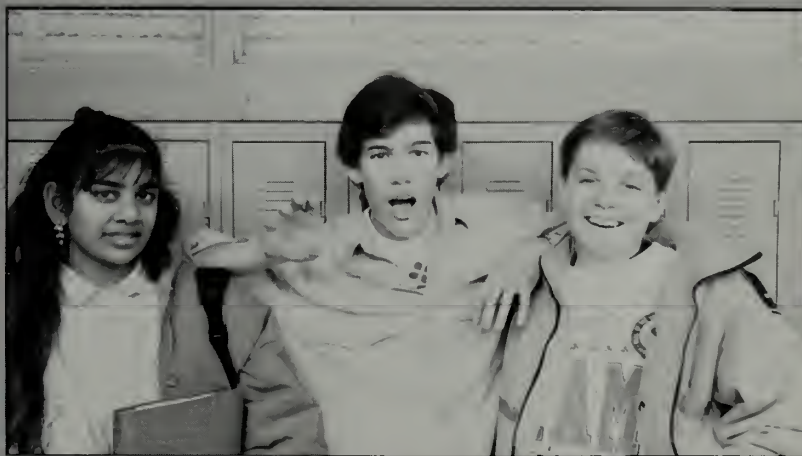

9) fix hair (why does it look so BAD today!)

10) copy homework (so what if it's a little messy?)

11) attempt to bypass teachers amidst the shuffle by the parking lot doors on your way to lunch.

After all this, you can either run to class and be on time or run to class and realize, to your embarrassment, that it's Monday, and passing time is only a mere four minutes long!

Weekends

Time to Relax

The final Friday bell rings and a flood of crazed students rush forth into the long awaited weekends. How do the Lancers keep themselves busy? LHS students are a diverse group. Junior Andres Diaz says, "I love to go to Filene's Basement and Birdies and Bogies at the mall." Freshman Laurel Davis can't find enough excitement in Longmeadow, explaining "I go to Vermont every weekend." Junior Eric Martenson says, "Nintendo is my favorite weekend activity."

Other students may prefer a different atmosphere. Students like to watch movies and plays, attend concerts and support our successful sports teams. Another popular activity is going out to dinner, or socializing at dances at school. Not only do students enjoy themselves spending time with their friends, but weekends also provide a time to "catch up" with events of the week. Most students sleep late at least one morning to catch-up on missed sleep lost throughout the week. Also, the weekends provide a time to catch-up with homework and studies. As well as engaging in social activities, many students at Longmeadow High School pursue jobs and community service activities on the weekends. Key Club and Keyettes plan many weekend projects, and periodically the classes participate in local community service efforts. No matter what direction students take, the Lancers have fun weekends!

Beth Leonard

Fads and Fashions

"In" Style

The 1991-92 school year made its mark into the fashion world. With retro styles roaming the halls of Longmeadow High School, the 1960's look was very trendy. Brigitte Bardot and flip hairstyles were the hottest this year. Students were relieved that fluorescent colors were finally considered passe, and that classic strong colors were back in.

Bucks were on every pair of feet this season, which illustrated the renewal of classic styles, as well as argyle socks. Plaid was especially hot. Plaid shirts, pants, and skirts graced every magazine cover. LHS students wore a lot of flannel, especially in (you guessed it) plaid. Limited Express' ribbed tunics made a debut appearance on fashion conscious students. Blazers were trendy in funky colors like sage, pumpkin, and olive. Stretch pants and bright tights were also very cool. Every student fell in love with Adidas Gazelles in wild colors. B.U.M. Equipment sweatshirts were a sensational fad that became fashion.

Junior Beth Leonard hopes that "bell-bottoms come in next year." However, Beth is in a small minority at LHS, for most students were happy with the 60's fashion. Longmeadow High School students agreed that they were on the cutting edge of fashion. "I like plaid pajamas," commented Junior Eric Martenson. Whatever fashion comes in vogue next school year, Longmeadow students are sure to be hip with it.

UN-TOUCHABLE

Sports

Longmeadow High School has a long tradition of excellence in sports. Participation in fall, winter, spring, or intramural sport cultivates many important qualities in a student. Filled with a common goal and a love for their sport, many lasting friendships are formed. Faced with the demands and challenges of their practices, games and tournaments, students become self-motivated and determined. Because many teachers coach sports teams, an understanding and lasting student-teacher relationship is created. These qualities combine to make well-rounded, well prepared athletes who are untouchable on the field, in the pool, or on the court. Throughout life, friendships and victories will remain unforgettable in every student's mind.

FOOTBALL

A Season To Remember

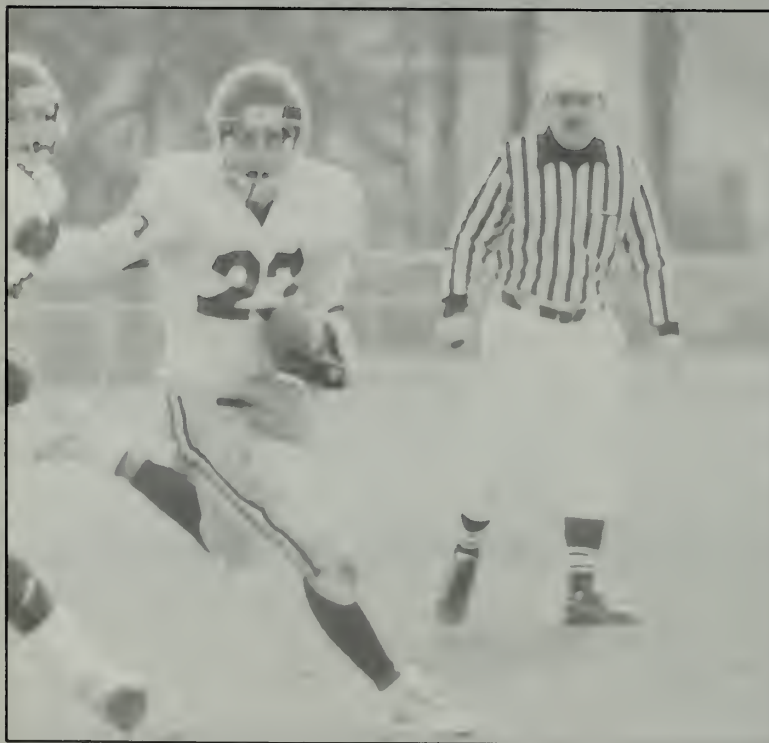

Varsity Football had an excellent 11-0 season under Head Coach Steve Bush and Assistants Brian Cogswell, Rudy Perisco, and Paul Schmutz. This amazing team was led by Quarterback Senior Jeff Kramer, Wide Receivers Seniors Nick Lentino, Brian Schara, and Mike Kotwicki, Running Backs Juniors Greg MacDonald and Marc Cerasa, and Receiver Junior Gary Veratti. The team finished the regular season undefeated, which included major victories over Northampton, Greenfield, and Holyoke. Captained by Lentino and Kotwicki, the Lancers went to their first Super Bowl since 1985 and suffered their only defeat, a tough, hard-fought 20-6 battle against Cathedral.

The Junior Varsity squad had a solid 4-5-1 year under Coach

The Freshmen football squad posted an impressive 5-2-1 record for Head Coach Nick St. George and Assistants Tim Yesu, Greg Champagne, and Randy Clark. Their strong offense was led by Quarterback Eric Jalonen, Runningback Todd Kaylor, and Wide Receivers C.J. Diamond, Bill Cullinan, and Spencer Kimball.

CHEERLEADING

Climbing To New Heights

L.H.S. has always been the proud home of the J.V. and Varsity cheerleading teams. Unfortunately, there is only a varsity team this year. But the team is active in the fall and the winter. They cheer for both the J.V. and Varsity football and basketball teams.

Members of the team stress that cheerleading is a wonderful form of exercise. The team practices four times a week for two hours. This keeps the cheerleaders in shape and ready to lead the spirit of L.H.S.

Cheerleaders have an important effect on the crowd. Their enthusiasm always rubs off on the fans, causing the spectators to cheer on the team. Cheerleading also serves as an engaging form of entertainment during the half times.

This year's squad is captained by Seniors Jolanta Chrzan and Amy Manning. According to Amy, "This year's squad has really pulled together and everyone is working hard. It really shows. We've also been getting a lot of support from the fans."

The squad plans to enter in at least three competitions during the year. With obvious enthusiasm, we wish them luck!

BOYS SOCCER

Kickin' It Up

Boy's Varsity soccer team had an excellent season this year finishing with a 10-3-2 record. For the second year in a row, the team won the Moriarty-Churchill Division, thanks to rookie Coach John Pantusco. His conditioning program lifted LHS soccer to a new level of play. Strong contributions were made by Seniors Brad Miller, Jeff Glenn, and Jon Patrick. As captains, they contributed to the team with their leadership and individual talents. The depth of underclass players was a big factor in the team's success. Freshman Jay Heaps, Sophomore Zac Samol, and Junior Laki Rousou played key roles in pivotal games against Cathedral and Central.

Captained by Juniors Fritz Mayock and Zac Stillerman, and Sophomores Mat Ryall and Dan Cohen, the J.V.'s season was productive, with a 6-7-5 record. However, this does not tell the true tale of their season, explains Mayock. "Even though we lost a lot of close games, we were a strong team and improved dramatically throughout the season." He also added that their coach, John Hammary, taught them well, and that he and other players hope "Hammer" will return next year.

The freshmen team also had a good season, finishing with a 1-4-5 record under Coach Hermes. Captained by Jim Shea and Will Lutat, the freshmen had both an educational and enjoyable experience, and are looking forward to next year.

GIRLS SOCCER

Making The Goal

The girls' soccer teams had another great season this year. With the help of coach Delano, the varsity team had an excellent season. Before Western Mass, the team had an impressive 11-6-1 record. At Western Mass, the team beat Chicopee High School to qualify for the quarter finals. In the quarter finals, the team played Ludlow. Although they lost 3-2, the team showed amazing skill and persistence on the field. Captains Seniors Rachel LeDuc, Laura Heaps, Kara Ryczek, and Gretchen Delano provided solid support for the team, as well as tremendous leadership on the field. The team ended the season with a striking 12-7-1 record.

The Junior Varsity team had an equally impressive season. They dominated the field to grasp a 10-4-4 record. Captains Juniors Kathy McLaughlin, Larissa Leclair, and Sarah Dibble helped the team achieve their best. Coach Roger LeBlanc guided the girls to a great season.

The freshman girls had a strong team this year. Under Coach Long, they finished with a notable 9-2-2 record. Next year, these players will provide great assistance for the Junior Varsity and Varsity teams.

FIELD HOCKEY

A Challenging Season

This year's field hockey teams met with much success, largely due to their enthusiasm. Led by devoted coach Ann Simons, the Varsity team achieved a 3-5-6 record. Captain Emily Lord said, "We had a great season and showed a lot of spirit." Key players on the team included Captains Brenna Sheehan and Emily Lord and Christa Bergeron, Jenny Mendelson, Susan Young, and Lindsey Christie. To most teams, the frequent tie scores might have been discouraging; however, this year's team overcame this feeling through superior spirit and dedication.

The J.V. team had a wonderful season this year. Led by Coach Hawker and Captains Michaela Curran and Megan Zwirko, the team finished the season with an outstanding 10-1-1 record. Sophomore Rachel Rothschild described the J.V. team as "motivated and hard-working." With such solid performances this year, all members will contribute positively next year.

BOYS X-COUNTRY

Endurance For Glory

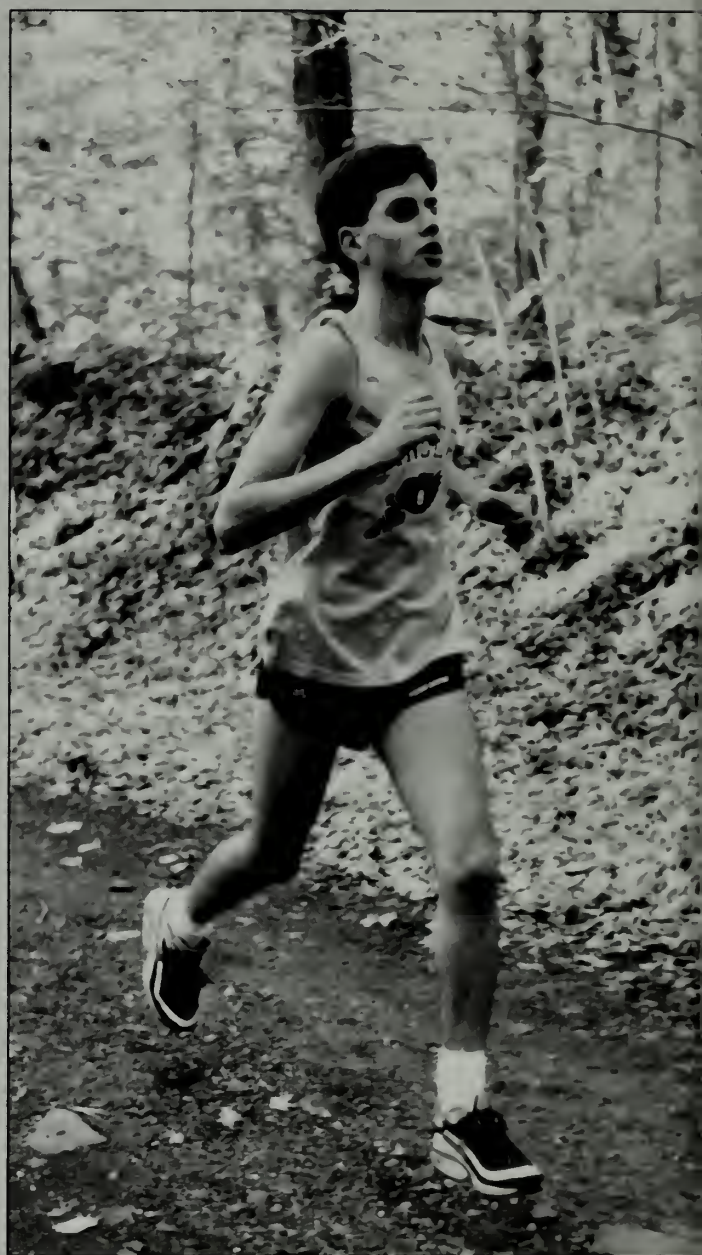

Boy's Cross Country had a successful season this year. Coached by Mr. Maestas, the team practiced intensively, especially concentrating on distance. Members enjoyed the training. As Sophomore Zach Shukan said, "I had a lot of fun and I'm looking forward to next year." Led by strong running ability and leadership from captains Mike Gregorski and Chuck Baker, the team finished with a promising 3-9 record. Gregorski characterized this year as a rebuilding season. The team shows strong signs of improvement for next year because of their hard work ethic and enthusiasm. Also, Gregorski will be the only graduating senior at the Valley League Championships. The team members earned 42, 47, and 72 places out of 146. Key underclassmen include Sean Bailey, Adeel Hassan, Pete McPartland, Zach Shukan and Darren Srebnick. With so many spirited members and devoted coaching, next year should be a wonderful season.

The team practiced by running distances of six miles, various speed workouts around the track, and hill running.

Key athletes included Seniors Michele Lewis and Jenny Nybom, Junior Lauren Buchanan and Sophomores San San Wu and Emily Swiatocha.

"I'm really proud of our team this year. We pulled together and had a great season," says Western Mass qualifier San San Wu. The team enjoyed a successful season this year and is looking forward to another strong season next year.

GYMNASTICS

Flipping Out

1 991 was a comeback year for the Longmeadow Gymnastics team. With a record of 4-7, the team revived from last year's 0-10 record. Coach Harvey Stockhammer drove the team to excel on uneven bars, balance beam, vault, and floor. Captains Carly Friedman and Leslie Kuhn, returning Juniors Bevin Kenney, Melissa Orenstein, Amy Thomas, and returning Sophomores Robin Levenson, and Melissa Podgurski, were the substantial backbone to the team. New Freshmen Heather Barr, Kristen Bradley, Nancy Cardaropoli, and Katie DeRose hold much promise for coming years. With an early win against West Side, the gymnasts were eager to prove themselves. This lead to another victory over Chicopee Comprehensive. Longmeadow's final meet was full of excitement, when the Lancers beat both Gateway and West Springfield. Melissa Orenstein and Amy Thomas competed for all-around, but a mid-season leg injury to Thomas left an opening that captain Carly Friedman filled. Strong vaults and floor routines led to a very respectful season. The Gymnastics team looks forward to the 1992 season with anticipation and promise.

BOYS BASKETBALL

A Growing Season

The Boys' Varsity Basketball team had another rebuilding year this season, finishing with a record of 7-12. However, the record belies the true nature of the season. Led by Co-Captains Seniors Steve McCall and Jeff Glenn and Senior Jeff Kramer, the team came together to stay close in almost every game. The team was coached by Brian Cogswell, and received strong play from Seniors Mike Kotwicki and Brian Schara and Junior Matt McGuire. Longmeadow used aggressive defense, sharp shooting on offense, and all-around hustle to attack opponents. Although the Lancers did not make it to post-season tournament play, they made an impressive showing in the league.

The Junior Varsity had a tough season this winter, also finishing 7-12. Coached by J.P. Yorki, the Lancers were led with strong play from Sophomores Ed Schultz and Gary Provencher, Junior Andres Diaz, and Freshmen Jeremy David and Jay Heaps. The team played consistently on both offense and defense, using hustle, determination, and heart to win.

The Freshman team had probably the most successful season this winter at LHS. Their impressive record was blemished only by one close loss to Agawam, ending up 17-1 for the season. The Lancers received talented play from Freshmen Mario Price, Bill Cullinan, Ben Mirkin, and Rick Sandler. Coached by veteran Charlie Mannheim, the freshmen received important instructions and valuable playing time.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Shooting For The Stars

Longmeadow High's Varsity Girls' Basketball team had yet another successful season this year, ending in the Western Mass. Tournament quarterfinals. Having one of the deepest benches in Western Mass., the Lady Lancers received strong play from Sophomores Jen Martinelli, Missy Long, Karen Paone, Martha Shay, and Sarah Maggi, Juniors Molly Auth and Jen Hayes and Senior Elisa Hoffmann, as well as co-captains Junior Beth Leonard, and Senior Kara Ryzcek. Through hard work at practice and the dynamic guidance of Coach Mary Murray, the team finished with a record of 13-8 in the quarterfinals of the tournament, losing to Agawam after soundly defeating Commerce.

The Junior Varsity also had a successful season this year, ending their season with a determined win over Agawam and a record of 15-5. Coached by Daryl Kieshe, the Lancers won many games thanks to the combined teams efforts, and strong play from Sophomores Heather Bradley, Aimee Westergom, and Kristen Bradner, and Freshmen Kate Leonard and Kate Girotti.

The Freshman team, coached by Amy Marchakis, worked hard this year to prepare for playing on the Varsity and Junior Varsity levels next year. Although they finished only 6-12, they again used the trademark of LHS Basketball- tough defense to make their opponents struggle. Other teams, beware!

BOYS SWIMMING

Not Just A Stroke Of Luck

It was an unbelievable season this year for the Boys' Swim Team. Strong swimmers combined with talented newcomers brought them to the record of 12-0. Captains Seniors Jordan Aigen, Scott Bassett, and Ian Patrick helped bring spirit and winning attitude needed for success. Talented team members who contributed in making LHS a powerhouse were Junior Marc Szyluk, Sophomores Eric Szyluk, Ethan Kushner, and Zach Shukan; Freshmen Will Lutal, Anthony McGuiness, and Adeel Hassan were also among them. Coach Isabelle Fraiser, a long time veteran in coaching winning teams, knows the strategies and the order it takes to shape a team to be champions. Her plan worked because this year at Western Mass. Championships, the boys from Longmeadow won! Defeating their rivals from East Longmeadow, Senior Jordan Aigen and Marc Szyluk brought in points for the team in the 50 free with their third and fifth places. Erik Szyluk helped the team greatly by coming in first in the 100 backstroke. The relays racked up points for Longmeadow also. It was the right combination of determination and drive that brought these guys to the top of the heat.

GIRLS SWIMMING/DIVING

Makin' a Splash

It was a rewarding and terrific season this year for the Girls' Swimming and Diving Team. Strong seniors, talented juniors and sophomores, and up-and-coming freshmen helped them achieve their 10-2 record, which placed them second overall for the season. They lost only to their main rivals, Minnechaug. Captains Seniors Ashley Cole and Perrin Cothran combined winning spirit with sensitive support. In order to create more enthusiasm, each girl made a poster for another swim team member to hang at all the meets.

Helping out the team were Senior Naomi Herman, Juniors Deb Zollman, Betsy Rowland, and Alison Maclaughlin, Sophomores Susan Young and Kerry Weeks and newcomers Freshmen Jean Roger and Rebecca Sale. Three year veteran Coach Rita Hawker helped the girls maintain their winning attitude and achieve success.

Through the efforts of Coach Nick Evangelidi, divers Sophomore Amelia Greiner and Freshman Becky Gorfin improved both their skill and style throughout the year and added points for the team.

At the Western Mass. Championships Longmeadow girls bettered their sixth place finish from last year and came in a close third to rivals St. Josephs from Pittsfield. Although the girls' team is losing many seniors this year, the team will remain strong because of emerging talent and dedication.

SKIING

Cruising The Slopes

The Boys' and Girls' ski teams completed a very competitive season this year. The success of the teams was due in part to the competent coaching of Mr. St. George and his assistant, Bob Kimball. The skiers trained extensively throughout the season, frequently traveling to Mt. Tom for practice. Competitions were held at Berkshire East where skiers participated in both the slalom and giant slalom events. Led by Captain Senior Jason Borek, the boys' team was very strong. They placed second overall and qualified for the state championships. Key players of the team included Borek, as well as Juniors Danny Kimball and Jay Van Tassel. The team is expected to be strong next year also, since there are few seniors graduating on the team.

The girls' team also enjoyed a very impressive season. Led by Captain Senior Michelle Carrazza, they placed fourth overall and qualified for Western Mass. Says Carrazza, "We had a fun season." Sophomore Meira Selby had a particularly strong performance and finished sixth in the state. The girls team is also expected to remain strong next year.

Both the boys and the girls had excellent reasons and are expected to maintain their high standings again next year.

HOCKEY

Checking Out The Action

1991-2 was a rebuilding season for the Longmeadow High School Hockey Team. Led by Coach Greg Reilly and assistant Coach Mark Christenson, the team skated to 4-14 record. Although the team was young and wrought with injuries, Coach Reilly is positive about next year.

Strong players Seniors Matt Steele and Erik Hutchins, Junior Dan McNair, and Sophomore John Bennett created the backbone of the team, along with Captain Junior Brian O'Connor and Assistant Captain Junior John DeShaw.

The team had much talent and strength, the most striking was the teams consistent improvement. Throughout the 18 games, the players learned to use their skills to their advantage. The young team's inexperience lead to problems. Fluke injuries and illnesses of many team members also hurt the team and its record. Late in the season, an upset victory over South Hadley became the climax of the year.

Overall the season was a signal for what is to come in the future. As Senior Jason Auth stated, "We really struggled this year, but we have a lot of talent and should definitely do really well in years to come." A stronger, older, more experienced team is to meet success next year.

WRESTLING

A "Pin"nacle Year

The Longmeadow High School wrestling team claimed yet another successful season this year. Although the team was very young - only three seniors - it proved itself a contender early on.

Head Coach Paul Schmutz and Assistant Coach Doug Parker inspired the team to victory. Captains Seniors Mark Simon and Matt Shaw, Juniors Bryan Schmutz and Mike Calvanese helped prepare and excite other team members for the meets. Powered by Simon, Shaw, Calvanese, Schmutz, and Junior Dave Barron the wrestling team achieved success in many different weight classes. The five wrestlers placed in Western Mass. and went on to compete in the state meet. Calvanese was especially strong, as he captured the Western Mass title for the 112 weight class. Junior Nick Khera is excited for the future in commenting, "We had a really good year, but I think we can do even better next year."

"The team worked really hard this season and didn't struggle although they were young," comments Coach Schmutz. The team's steady pace and willpower will fuel their future success.

CHEERLEADING

Flying High

The change in sports seasons also brought about a change in the Lancer cheerleading team. Before the basketball season began, new try-outs were held to determine the members of the winter squad. Seventeen girls competed for twelve spots on the squad. The team was made up of underclassmen and only contained four returning cheerleaders. However, with the help of coordinator Mrs. Diaz and Captains Lisa Grodsky and Lisa Chalero, the team hoped to gain experience and become unified. As Grodsky said at the beginning of the season, "Our goal is to train hard and get together." This talent and unification was shown in the cheerleaders' performances. After many strenuous practices and "many laughs," the team became an excellent source of spirit and enthusiasm for the students and players of LHS. Along with a variety of cheers done from the bench, the cheerleaders also do dance routines and gymnastic mounts and flips. This versatility in roles allows cheerleaders to appeal to all types of fans. With much potential and ability for growth, the future for the Longmeadow Cheerleading squad looks bright.

UN-EQUALED

Organizations

When entering the high school, a student is faced with an unbelievable variety of clubs and activities to choose from. These clubs host a wide range of interests, varying from language groups to literary journals, from community outreach clubs to choral groups. Through these, students experiment to find which activities are best suited for them. The organizations at LHS play a vital role in the school and community. The clubs help students become involved with their school and cultivate school spirit and friendships. The variety and quality of the organizations is unequalled. The impact that LHS clubs and organizations make will remain unforgettable to the students, school, and community.

MASACKSIC

Reviewing the Year

What is the number one way to remember your high school years at LHS? The yearbook, Masacksic. A conglomeration of photographs of students, candid, sports, events, teachers, and organizations, as well as favorite quotes and articles. The yearbook makes students' high school careers unforgettable.

Much work goes into creating a yearbook. Under the direction of Editors-in-Chief Kathlene Kielbania and Sarah Kittredge, and dedicated advisor Mr. Potvin, the yearbook is divided into seven sections. This year, a new section was created, student life. This "unbelievable" section captures the special events and memories of a student's everyday life that might otherwise be forgotten.

As well as the layout staffs, there are five other staffs that are instrumental in the creation of the yearbook: the copy staff, the typists, the photographers, the graphics staff, and the business staff. With the combined efforts of all of these people, the Masacksic comes together throughout the year. In the future, students can leaf through these treasured mementos to recall their cherished high school years, that will always remain unforgettable.

ROUGH DRAFT

Extra! Extra!

Once again this year, Longmeadow High School continued its unique tradition of producing two school newspapers. After "changing its look" last year, the Rough Draft felt it needed another new twist this year. Previously under the motto, "Longmeadow's monthly student newspaper," the Rough Draft now calls itself a "magazine of satire and student opinion."

The Rough Draft is headed by Editors-in-Chief Peter Smolowitz, Mike Nadel, and Arlen Schweiger, and advisor William Kirkpatrick. This twelve-page paper is split into several sections. Each issue contains feature articles, sports, editorials, and a humor section, which contains the Draft Honors. The features and editorial sections usually include current school related problems and issues. The sports section covers every sport, or a particular event is written about. This allows people to re-live the competition.

This year, the Rough Draft tackled such crucial issues as the first amendment rights of the new hat and t-shirt ban as well as light-hearted problems like the school's heat problem. On the whole, Peter Smolowitz feels, "We're not like the regular student newspaper because we don't just print what's good. We print more opinionated material and also some humor."

JET JOTTER

Read All About It!

The Jet Jotter is one of two school newspapers at L.H.S. This year, the paper has two new advisors, Ms. Schwartzberg and Mr. Churchill. This year's editors and managers include Editor-in-Chief Sanjiv Reejhsinghani, Managing Editor Katie Walat, and Production Managers Mark Torrey and Jonathan David. Each issue includes a conglomeration of feature, entertainment, sports, and editorial articles. To enhance the stories, graphics and photographs are included. Mrs. Morse serves as the business advisor. In a joint effort with the Jet Jotter, the business club is in charge of finding, laying out, and billing ads, as well as distributing the paper. The paper is now in its 37th year of existence. This year, the staff has redefined the paper's makeup and layout. The paper consistently comes out every month. Sanjiv Reejhsinghani feels that, "The Jet Jotter staff was able to unify and work together since the first day of September. Only through this dedication have we been able to be so productive this year." No one can argue that this year has been a great one for the Jet Jotter.

IMPRESSIONS

Creative Journeys

One's high school career is filled with a great deal of factual writing, including term papers, essays, and reports. Fortunately, LHS provides an outlet for another kind of writing- creative writing. Impressions is a school publication dedicated solely to literary and artistic works.

Twice a year, students are encouraged to submit their art and literary work to Impressions. These works are then anonymously read and evaluated by Impressions staff members. They decide what will be included in the magazine.

This year's Editors-in Chief are Seniors Joanna Themistos, and Anita Raman. The Literary Editors are Senior Monica

Osofsky and Junior Lauren Buchanan. Art Editor is Senior Amy Gerstle, Layout Editor is Junior Michelle Duquette, and Junior John O'Rourke is in charge of publicity. Raman is proud of the magazine as she believes "that Impressions is a really unique organization at Longmeadow High because it gives students the opportunity to display talents that are not readily apparent."

With dedicated advisor Ms. McShane, wonderful editors, a creative staff of over 40 students, and talented writers at L.H.S., we eagerly await another fantastic issue of Impressions at the end of the year.

AS SCHOOLS MATCH WITS

Matching their Wits

The LHS As Schools Match Wits team had an extremely successful year. Ms. Schwartzberg led the practices with quizzing from trivia books. It paid off well, as the team won the required three contests en route to the playoffs.

The team consisted of Seniors Dan Liptzin, Arlen Schweiger, Danielle Feldman, Lisa Silverman, and Junior Chris Sakellis, as well as alternate Senior Max Jacobs. Only four students can appear, so during the three episodes, Lisa, Danielle, and Chris rotated in two spots to make a well-rounded team.

With every student having a specialty, they were able to answer questions on most every subject- geography, history, literature, music, theater, words, and sports. The first two victories came against Holyoke High and Holyoke Catholic. In the controversial third match, the team lost to Cathedral. However, the host asked a question that contained incorrect data about the 17C Frenchman Rene Descartes. After protesting, the producers awarded both teams victory.

In addition, the six participants beat the faculty in the annual match this year, moderated by Mr. Conway. The faculty included Mr. Fitzgerald, Mr. Kirkpatrick, Mr. Mucci, Ms. McShane, Ms. Blake, and Mr. Goodwin.

KEY CLUB

Continuing to Hold The Key to Success

LHS has a strong community service organization, Key Club. This year, the club was led by advisor James Climo and President Senior Chet Fagin, First V.P. Junior Tim DeRose, Second V.P. Sophomore Todd Pula, Secretary Senior Parisa Golkar, and Treasurer Senior Mark Sedran. Key Club also had two New England District Board members: Senior Brett Samoff and Junior Andrew White.

Once again, Key Club undertook hundreds of projects including weekly visits to Shriner's Hospital, playing bingo with the elderly at Emerson Manor and Genesis House, and taking part in Kiwanis Club meetings. Other big community events were the town-wide clean up and the distribution of town warrants. As a reward to the members, the club attended the district convention in Springfield and will attend the International convention in Toronto in July.

President Chet Fagin explains, "Longmeadow High School has one of the best Key Clubs in the world. We do over 200 projects every year and raise about $20,000. The money is given to different organizations as charity." The students of the LHS Key Club make a difference in both their community and country.

KEYETTES

Unlocking the Possibilities

Every Monday night at 7:00, forty anxious Keyettes gather in room 212 for an exciting and energetic half-hour meeting. The LHS division of Keyettes was developed through the branching off of Key Club. At these meetings, the group discusses the many ways in which they can serve the community.

The Keyettes are led by advisor Ms. Wilkinson, and officers President Senior Kara Gagne, V.P.'s Seniors Kara Ryczek and Michelle Carrazza, Secretary Senior Jen Langieri, and Treasurer Sophomore Anmarie Lehman.

The Keyettes have completed many service projects this year.

They painted the faces of children at Forest Park, as well as assisting at a phone-a-thon benefiting the American Heart Association. They organized the spirit drinks, candy calls at Halloween, and the flowers for Valentine's Day. The Keyettes also helped out at Gifts and Glitter. Their year-long project is raising money for the Leukemia Society.

"Sometimes meetings are happy and upbeat and other times they were shockingly real, but they were always purposeful," says loyal Keyette Allison Grace. Through their enthusiasm and community projects, the Keyettes have been beneficial to our community.

S.A.D.D.

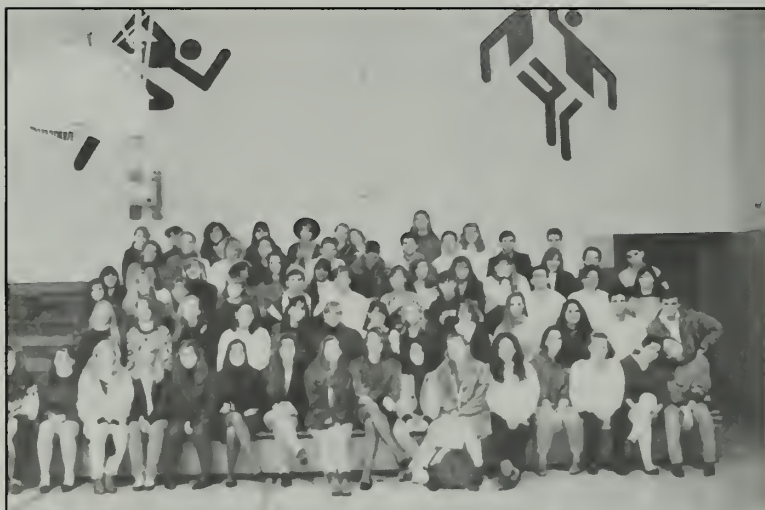

Striving to Stop Drunk Driving

As their membership increases, S.A.D.D. continues to have a positive impact on L.H.S. students. S.A.D.D., standing for Students Against Drunk Driving, encourages students to pursue activities that do not include alcohol consumption. However, if students do drink, the group stresses that they must not drive. Otherwise, their actions will endanger not only the intoxicated driver and his/her passengers, but also other automobilists on the road.

Through posters, meetings and fundraisers, S.A.D.D. expresses this message. Also, S.A.D.D. held two school dances this year, which students of all classes attended. Along with President Victoria Lauro, Vice-President Sarah Kittridge, Secretary Anita Raman, and Treasurer Mike Gregorski members try to set good examples for their classmates. As Sarah Kittridge says, "S.A.D.D. symbolizes as important and necessary message for LHS students." With the help of advisor Mrs. Wiseman, S.A.D.D. is working hard for a safe and responsible school year.

PULL/NEW DIRECTIONS

Pulling Together to Help Others

Unjustifiably, two of the most unexplored clubs of Longmeadow High School are PULL and New Directions.

PULL, which stands for Peer Understanding through Listening and Learning, confronts the problems of peer pressure, alcohol, and drug abuse. Members must complete a twenty hour course teaching them how to deal with substance abuse questions. After, the group makes a tour of the elementary and middle schools, answering questions about the high school, drugs, alcohol, peer pressure, and other current issues.

New Directions offers alternative activities for the weekends. These activities provide a relaxed environment that is free from the pressure of substance abuse.

New Directions and PULL are under the supervision of Mr. Crumb, the school's substance abuse coordinator. So far this year, the group has taken a hayride, and is eagerly planning many exciting activities for the future.

These clubs may be overlooked by many people at L.H.S. However, they do serve as an option for the people who want an alternative to substance abuse. This important cause must not be overlooked by anyone.

A.F.S.

Broadening Our Horizons

American Field Service serves to increase awareness of both foreign cultures and countries. Advised by dedicated Mrs. Maloney, the club has over forty members. It is led by an enthusiastic board consisting of President Senior LaShaun Skillings, V.P. Senior Jami Poskanzer, Treasurer Senior Jessica Stone, Secretary Junior Jen Hayes, and Publicity Chairman Senior Kathlene Kielbania and Committee Chairman Senior Bill Laffey.

This year, LHS is hosting three foreign exchange students: Sam Pamilo from Finland, Simone Ghilardi from Switzerland, and Marcella Feliziani from Italy. There are also three other foreign exchange students who are not affiliated with AFS.

In addition to hosting students,

AFS holds exchanges with other AFS clubs from different states. This year, an exchange was held with a club from New York. Other activities included a welcoming party for the exchange students, preparing Thanksgiving baskets for the needy, and a clothing drive to benefit the homeless. These and other activities would not be possible without fund raisers. Through the annual pumpkin and candy cane calls, as well as the M+M and bake sales, AFS raises the necessary funds.

Because of their fun and culturally aware activities, successful fund raisers, and several exchange students, AFS maintains its reputation as one of the most interesting and exciting clubs at LHS.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Academic Excellence Exemplified

Longmeadow High School has a long tradition of academic excellence. In accordance with this, L.H.S. maintains an active National Honor Society. Members are selected on the bases of "Character, leadership, and service," as well as awarded points for grades. An A=2 points, a B=1 point, a C has no value, a D=-1 points, and an F makes one ineligible. This year N.H.S. included 45 former inductees, as well as 38 new Seniors and 24 new Juniors. Members strive to maintain a high standard of academic quality at the school. The group is directed by Advisors Judy Pincus and Florence Nemkovich, as well as President Mike Nadel, Vice-President Elisa Hoffman, Corresponding Secretary Parisa Golkar, Social Secretary Mark Sedran, and Treasurer Michael Gregorski. These people coordinate many activities throughout the year. These include bake sales and other fundraising events that provide scholarships money for N.H.S. members. Every year five or six scholarships are awarded, depending on how much money is raised. N.H.S. runs the school book store, which contains required and classical novels for students at L.H.S. Through these activities, N.H.S. students play a beneficial role in maintaining academic quality in Longmeadow High School.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

Broadening our Horizons

The International Club allows students to become aware and informed about world cultures. This year's officers, President Victoria Lauro, Vice-President Tushar Shah and Dan Liptzin, Secretaries Monica Osofsky and Rekha Murthy, and Treasurer Lisa Paone hope to fill this year with spirit. The club's advisor, Mr. Peter Santos, provides dedication and insight for the members. Events such as Handicap Awareness Day, Government Awareness Day, and Homeless

Awareness Day, all featuring live speakers, are planned for this year. Some members also plan to attend Model United Nations at either Harvard University or Springfield College. At Model U.N., members become leaders of a country. These "diplomats" must make political decisions for their country in the United Nations setting. Through these activities, the International Club strives to create increased interest and foster awareness for the students at L.H.S.

EQUESTRIAN CLUB

Riding High

The Equestrian Club is in its fourth year of existence and is building strength every year. It was founded by horse-lover Toby Fingeroth in 1988. Since then, under the direction of President Fingeroth, the club's membership has increased from six people to fifteen.

Throughout the year, club members travel to stables in Amherst to ride horses. Not all members are expert horse riders, as many have had no experience with horses and are eager to learn how to ride. Therefore at the stables, members can be seen learning to trot as well as leaping high jumps. As Equestrian member Julie Riordan says, "It doesn't matter what level you're at, we just have fun!" This year, Cathedral also began an Equestrian Club. Therefore, both teams have been competing with each other throughout the year. This competition has provided encouragement for improvement among both teams' members and will hopefully spark interest from other surrounding towns. The future is looking bright for these horse-lovers. A new club is gaining popularity and is spreading throughout the area. As more schools establish Equestrian Clubs and more members join the Longmeadow High School team, the Equestrian Club will maintain its solid tradition.

Two programs exist at Longmeadow High that provide an opportunity for inner city students to attend a suburban school. "A Better Chance" takes promising, creative, intelligent students from their urban environment into towns and such as Longmeadow. The students selected for the program are given a chance to excel, whereas the course load at their urban high schools would not be as challenging. This year's students come from New York City and Boston. The six boys live on Wenonah Road with their resident advisors, Eric and Joylynn Mello. ABC, a non-profit organization, has fund-raisers such as the ABC Road Race, sponsored by Bank of Boston, and "Just Desserts" throughout the year to provide money for the continuation of the program.

The METCO program enables several Springfield students to attend Longmeadow High School. Under the helpful eye of coordinator Mrs. Cutting, the students are bussed to LHS each day. Mrs. Cutting says of the program, "It benefits both the town residents and the METCO students who attend LHS by providing an opportunity for a diverse multi-cultural and multi-ethnic education." Both the METCO and ABC programs provide a brighter future and a quality education for their participants.

DRAMA/ART CLUB

Artistic Assets

The Art Club is in its second year of existence. Although it had a rocky first year, the club has persevered, and is hoping to thrive. Formed last year with the help of graduate Mitch Magee, the club appeals to all types of artist. The advisor, Ms. Barrera, feels that the club is appealing because it attracts all types of artists and is somewhat spontaneous. Meetings are scheduled once a month and frequently include a guest artist. Also, fundraisers and trips are planned throughout the year.

Last May, members of the drama club went to Brighton, England for an exchange with the drama club of Varndean Sixth Form College. This October, several students from this college came to Longmeadow for ten days and were hosted by members of the drama club. While at L.H.S., they performed two excellent plays, The House of Bemarda Alba and The Tempest. According to member Kathryn Baldwin, "The plays were fabulous and we had a marvelous time hosting the English students."

Under direction of Mrs. Blaire Walker, the Drama Club hopes to continue the success that it had last year at the Massachusetts High School Competition. With much enthusiasm and a new director, more success seems imminent.

BUSINESS CLUB

Entrepreneurs of the Future

The Business Club is a valuable organization which trains its members for the world of commerce. The club organizes such important events as the annual Typathon and Can Drive. In the Typathon, members type to raise money for the Leukemia Fund. The can drive collects canned food to donate to the Worthington House for the homeless people. With the help of advisor Mrs. Morse, the Business Club has instituted the collection of Armata's receipts in order to obtain a television for the business department.

The Business Club also runs the Student Store. The Student Store has been even more successful with the sale of film and photography paper. The Student Store is also responsible for the business section of the Jet Jotter. With the help of Michele Lewis, Ads Manager, the club solicits ads for the Jet Jotter. Other officers of the Business Club include Treasurer Mike Calvanese, Co-Presidents Charles Baker and Nick Khera, and Secretary Pariss Spelios. The Business Club provides integral services for Longmeadow High School.

COLLABORATIVES

Working Together

Last year, Longmeadow High School incorporated a special program into the curriculum for students who wish to pursue careers directly after receiving their high school diplomas. The program is called Career Skills. It consists of two classes totalling fifteen students from Agawam, West Springfield, Springfield, Wilbraham, East Longmeadow, and Hampden.

The students are taught by teachers Diane Regrey and Mary McGarr-Mead and assistants Sue Fath, Shirley Homans, Betty Yefko, and Michelle Yvon. By working with these adults, the students meet their graduation requirements while learning about the career world.

The students complete required courses in English, Math, Science, and Social Studies. In addition, they spend much time on a special course called career education, in which they learn about all aspects of applying for and retaining a job. This year, some students have been mainstreamed into regular LHS classes, such as cooking, child development, keyboarding, and word processing. Occasional field trips provide students with hands-on experience in these areas.

Longmeadow High School is fortunate to have a program serving students from surrounding areas who opt for a different path than college after high school.

PEER SUPPORT

Supporting Others

Peer Support Network is an important group of students dedicated to helping others with problems. The group meets every Wednesday for approximately one hour. At the high school, during the summer, the club members were trained how to help their fellow students by their advisors, Mr. Crumb and Mr. Devine. In order to participate in Peer Support, the members had to be recommended by a teacher for their responsibility and caring nature. The group's goal is to help others help themselves. According to Junior Elizabeth Hahesy, "We don't give advice or tell them what to do; our job is to support the students and help them solve their own problems."

This year, the group hopes to create eight different support groups. This idea, called co-facilitation, would combine the peer support members and other LHS students. Two members would lead the group of ten students. These groups would be trained to help others who are struggling with subjects such as death, divorce, school related stress, and social pressure.

During the year, members visited freshmen and sophomore gym classes to make students familiar with their group. Hahesy added that "It's really rewarding that you can see others and know that you've helped them help themselves."

Math Team

Calculating Geniuses

This year's math team suffered a rough beginning due to the departure of three graduating seniors last year. Now, membership in the team include two seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore. Advised by Math Department Chairman Mr. Daniels the math team travels to other high schools to compete monthly with 16-18 other Western Mass teams. There are five meets a year. The members of the team have really felt the effects of the absence of last year's seniors, but they hope to revitalize and perhaps finish third in Western Mass.

According to member Max Jacobs, "The math team is for someone who can do those problems at the end of the math book sections with ease." Although not for everyone, the team serves as an intellectual challenge for those involved.

Middle, Right - Junior Heather Lawrence examines a few problems in Mr. Daniels' office before her next meet.

Right - With their superb math knowledge, Seniors Dave Mott and Mark Sedran aspire to be on the math team.

SCIENCE TEAM

Exploding Into the Future

Once a month the Longmeadow Science Team has a meet, where it competes against area schools in three scientific events. The events draw from all fields of scientific study, and are mostly thought up by faculty advisors. The meets include a pre-built event which the members must prepare beforehand. There are also two other events where members must answer questions about their topic. The team is looking forward to the State Meet in Boston on April 30. About the club, Seniors Megan Sherburne and Ian Patrick said, "Unless you're one of us, don't try to comprehend what we do." Especially exciting this year is the strobe photography equipment from M.I.T. which members are permitted to use for free. As Mr. Hirsch, the league's advisor, says, "It's really great to see young people interested in science."

INSTRUMENTALS

Having An Ear For Music

The LHS music department has once again proved itself worthy of its spectacular reputation. Mr. Michael Mucci has helped the groups achieve this distinction through his hard work. The department's efforts have also been rewarded through the success of the annual fruit sale, which raises money for the department. Mr. Mucci said of the tiring sale, "I'm scared I'm actually starting to enjoy this." In accordance with last year, Longmeadow High School sent many talented instrumentalists to Western Mass. Senior and Junior District. With such talent, many students received All-State recommendations.

The Wind Ensemble and Concert Band have also played an active role in the community. They played at the bonfire and the annual pep rally. Their dedication was also shown through their involvement in the Pep Band, which played at all Lancer home football games. The selective Jazz Band has impressed its audiences with its amazing performances. The talent of its members guaranteed that it ranked well in the state. The Orchestra's talent has dazzled audiences at the concerts.

Through the dedication of the members and directors, the Longmeadow High School Music Department had another extremely successful year.

Choruses

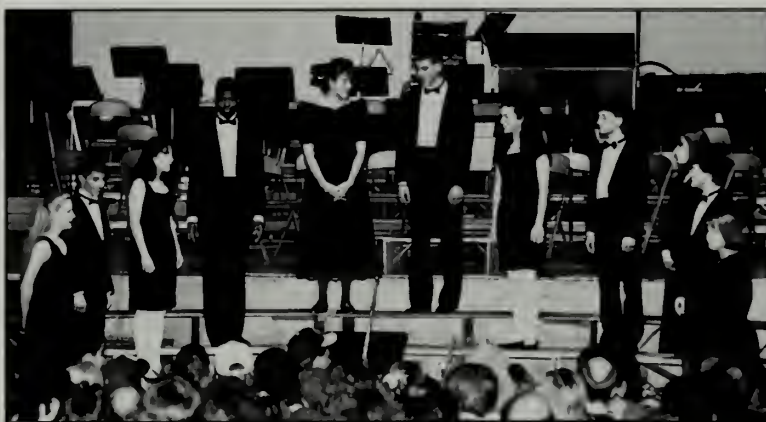

On A High Note

The Choral groups at Longmeadow High School are perhaps some of the most talented in Massachusetts. Men's Chorus, Lyrics, and Concert Chorus are led by dedicated Mr. Thompson, and Freshman Chorus is led by newcomer Miss Hastings. Student teacher Mark Thomas has been a great help by conducting many rehearsals while he trains to become a teacher. Lyrics has been distinguished as one of only seven groups asked to sing for a Channel 57 Christmas program. Lyrics is also sending twenty members to Western Mass. District, many of whom were recommended for All-State. Men's Chorus, Concert Chorus, and Girl's Chorus are all busily preparing for their concerts. I Cantori, an extremely selective group, held auditions in order to determine membership. They will perform madrigal music during the winter concert.

The dedication and talent of the Choral students and teachers account for the success of Longmeadow choral groups.

UN-MATCHED

Seniors

The Senior Class of 1992 has pursued a wide range of activities throughout their four years at LHS. The class has engaged in many community service projects that have benefited both Longmeadow and Springfield. Sophomore year, the class helped out daily for two weeks at Loaves and Fishes in downtown Springfield. Sophomore and Junior year, the class cleared trails and cleaned up Laurel Park because town funds were not available to do this. The class has also held an annual candy sale to provide money for Senior Week activities. The Senior Class of 1992 is noted for being the last freshman and sophomore class to have free blocks. Through all of these activities, the class has become unmatched. As these seniors move onto a new stage in their lives, the unforgettable contributions they made in the school and community will remain.

From Your Advisors . . .

I have been very lucky to be class advisor for the Class of '92. This is my fourth stint as class advisor and is the only time I have had the opportunity to work with basically the same group of officers for all four years. I would like to thank Emily, Carrie, Mike, Dave, Ken, and Erik for making my job much easier. Class participation contributed a great deal to the success of this class. I am proud of what this class has accomplished. We have created new ways of doing things. The Class of '92 proved that dances can be held successfully at the Community House. Many class members have taken an active role in the operation of the soda machine. I have been impressed with the number of class members that have been actively involved with class council meetings for four years. The highlight for me has been the unselfish attitude of this class. For two years in a row a large number of '92ers willingly gave of their free time to assist in cleaning Laurel Park and serving the less fortunate at Loaves and Fishes. The spirit of this class was also exemplified by working with the administration to work out a compromise on graduation day. I eagerly await the remainder of this year. I know that the Class of '92 will have an outstanding Senior Play, Prom, Banquet, and all other senior activities. Best of luck to every member of the Class of '92. It really has been a great four years for me. Thanks!

-Dave Slate

Fond Memories of the Class of 1992

Remember when: we planned the first dance of your freshman year and anxiously wondered if anyone would come: and they did and those who came had a great time!

Remember: trying to convince the class members that it would be a good thing to pay their class dues; that it would be a good thing to buy those chocolate bars; and, that the class council really did have the best interests of the entire class at heart.

Remember: the sophomore semi-formal at Chez Joseph. Everyone looked so mature; the girls were beautiful and the boys were handsome (and this co-advisor felt so old!).

Remember: the great fun we had at the Laurel Park Spring Clean-up Saturdays; everyone worked hard, good dirty, had fun, and ate all that good food provided by the Parks & Recreation Department.

Remember: all those long sessions when we met in committees during class council meeting; and, all the planning and work that got done as a result! Congratulations to everyone who participated.

Remember: the Junior/Senior Semi-Formal; what a good time! Let's do it again and we did in January of 1992.

Remember: the Halloween Dance at the Community House; planning for it and decorating the hall were half the fun. Once again, everyone came through with flying colors, and the costumes were amazing — truly amazing.

Finally: Remember all the long hours and meetings and the phone calls and all the time spent planning for senior year activities. Congratulations, Class of 1992 members and THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES!

It's been a honor and a pleasure to be associated with all of you and my memories of you are fond ones. Special thanks to our outstanding officers: Emily, Carrie, Ken, Erik, Dave, and Mike, you've made the last four years such fun.

Best Wishes —
Fondly,
Lolene Blake

UN-DERSTUDIES

Underclass

The life of an underclassman is filled with excitement and change. As Freshmen, students enjoy their high school status, as well as the new opportunities open to them. As a Sophomore, students enjoy seniority over the freshmen, as well as their first semi-formal. As a Junior, students obtain freedom through their driver's licenses, as well as participating in many Junior-Senior activities. The struggles of an underclassman can be difficult. However, these setbacks create a mature individual who is ready to accept the independence of college life. Underclassmen are the understudies who follow the senior's example. This crucial process in every student's life is both invaluable and unforgettable.

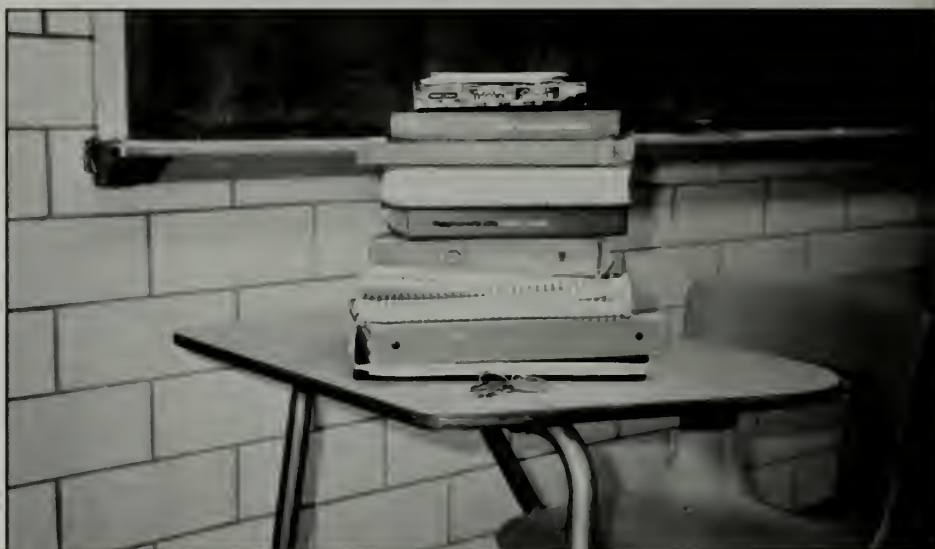

Middle - Junior Mike Anzalotti has packed up his books and gets to go home for the weekend.

Juniors

The Junior Class is a class of individuals. Every member contributed in various ways. The class had a lot of spirit shown by their participation in class activities. They went to a Red Sox game and held many dances. They held their annual car wash where large profits were made. With President Zac Stillerman, Vice President Whitney Harrelson, Secretary Taryn Barkman, and Treasurer Elizabeth Hahesy leading the way, this class is sure to have another exciting and successful year.

Sophomores

The Sophomore Class is full of spirit. As a class, they were renowned for their support of our school teams. They made t-shirts for the Superbowl not for profit, but for fun. They held many dances after the basketball games which were enjoyed by many. With the support and spirit of President Jesse Sweet, Vice President Mike Werman, Secretary Mike Atheneos, and Treasurer Eddie Shultz, the class will continue to lead the school with spirit in the years to come.

Freshmen

The Freshman Class is a close knit group. They had two socials and planned a dance with the Sophomores. They also had a great new idea for a spaghetti dinner served before the basketball games. They hope to make this an annual event. With the leadership of President Jay Heaps, Vice President Scott Brown, Secretary Amy Kim, and Treasurer C.J. Diamond this class will continue to unite through their innovative social gatherings in the years to come.

The world is made up of a multitude of buyers and sellers. These companies meet the needs, as well as provide the amenities for their consumers. All of these items create the world that we live in. Frequently, companies invest, or pay back, the communities which patronize them. This happens internationally in Russia with the McDonald's corporation, which purchases local supplies to contribute to the economy. This occurs nationally with corporations such as Coca-Cola, which provides college scholarships for students. And this happens with local corporations, which support the clubs and activities of the communities they serve. This happens in Longmeadow, where generous companies provoke advertisements that help underwrite the cost of the yearbooks. Through this, these companies make student's high school career unforgettable.

AN UNFORGETTABLE YEAR

Top, Left - UNDER HOUSE ARREST - Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev was placed under house arrest on August 19, 1991, as an eight-man committee took power. On August 22, a jet arrived in Moscow, bringing home Gorbachev and entourage. The coup had failed, and before the day was through, all coup leaders were arrested.

Top, Center - RESISTING SOVIET COUP - Russian President Boris Yeltsin waved the Russian flag before a crowd at the end of the coup attempt. He called on Russians to resist the takeover, and resist they did. Constructing a protective human wall around Yeltsin's headquarters, supporters demanded Gorbachev's return.

Above - TERRY ANDERSON FREED - Anderson emerged on December 4, 1991, from the dark hole of 6 1/2 years of captivity in Lebanon. The release marked the end of a hostage saga that haunted two presidencies. Anderson is shown in Germany on December 5 with former hostages Joseph Cicippio (left) and Alann Steen (right).

It was a truly "unforgettable" year across the globe and in the U.S. Appropriately, Natalie Cole's hit duet with her late father Nat King Cole won the three major Grammy awards- best song, record and album.

Around the world, people were "watching the world wake up from history," as the group Jesus Jones sang in "Right Here, Right Now." People sat stunned by the actions of Boris Yeltsin in the former Soviet Union. They watched as eastern bloc countries were liberated, Germany was reunited, and South Africa began progress to end apartheid.

Back home in the U.S., Americans were shocked when Magic Johnson, one of basketball's greatest players and personalities announced his retirement with the revelation that he had contracted the HIV virus. However, this led to a greater concern and awareness of the deadly disease AIDS. Unfortunately, the disease took the life of thousands this year, including Queen's Freddie Mercury, singer of one of the most well-known anthems in history, "We Will Rock You."

The world of sports witnessed some great events, too. Duke University repeated their reign as victors in the final four. Magic Johnson and beat Michael Jordan in the NBA finals. The Twins and the Braves played the closest and what some called the greatest world series in history, with the Twins edging out the Braves in the bottom of the 10th inning in the seventh game, 1-0. The Redskins brought the Super Bowl home to the nation's capital. And Kristi Yamaguchi, Bonnie Blair, and Paul Wylie were a few of those who came back heroes from Albertville, France, in the winter Olympics. The unforgettable events of 1991-1992 show the amazing changes that have, and will, occur in the last decade of the twentieth century.

Arlen Schweiger

Opposite Page; Top, Right - KUWAIT OIL WELL FIRES - Firefighters were unprepared for the sight they saw in Kuwait — oil wells sending flames 30 yards into the air. During the seven-month Iraqi occupation, more than 730 wells were damaged or set ablaze. Teams from the U.S., Canada, China, Iran, Kuwait, Hungary and France worked together to clean up this environmental disaster.

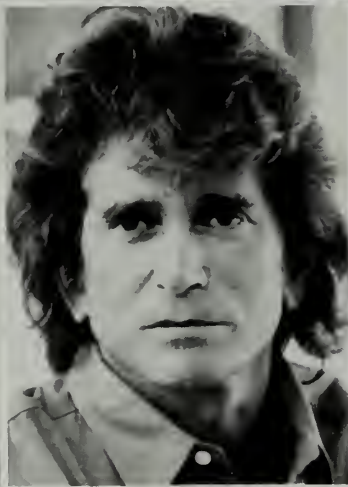

Opposite Page; Bottom, Right - PRESIDENTS OPEN REAGAN LIBRARY - Ronald Reagan threw open the doors of his presidential library on November 5, 1991, in the Simi Valley in California. President Bush and former Presidents Carter, Ford, and Nixon joined him in the first gathering ever of five past or current presidents.

Top, Left - MAGIC JOHNSON - Johnson, whose beaming smile and sparkling play entertained fans for over a decade, announced on November 7, 1991, that he tested positive for the AIDS virus and was retiring. Johnson has become an AIDS activist and campaigns for safe sex. His broad grin, familiar nickname and electrifying ability have made him familiar to people around the world.

Left - KURDISH REFUGEES - About 2 million minorities fled in April 1991 when rebels failed to oust President Saddam Hussein in the aftermath of the Gulf War. At least 6,700 Iraqi refugees died fleeing to the border. Military units from the United States and seven other countries participated in a relief effort.

MILES DAVIS

DR. SEUSS

Top · STATUE TOPPLED · In addition to telephone service being cut to all KGB buildings and Gorbachev naming a new chief of the KGB, the statue of the founder of the KGB was toppled while thousands of Muscovites watched. Freedom came to the Soviet Union.

Opposite Page; Bottom, Right - CLARENCE THOMAS - Thomas was controversial symbol of conservatism because of his legal view and a charge of sexual harassment by Anita Hill. Thomas vehemently denied the allegations. After much debate, the Senate voted to confirm him. On October 18, 1991, Thomas became the 106th Supreme Court Justice, succeeding Thurgood Marshall.

Top, Left - THURGOOD MARSHALL - After 24 years on the bench, Marshall announced on June 27, 1991, that he was retiring from the Supreme Court. Before being a justice, he had won 29 of the 32 cases he argued for the rights of oppressed and forgotten. Marshall's pioneering civil rights career helped reshape the racial norms of the nation.

Top, Center - ANITA HILL - Professor Hill went public with allegations that Clarence Thomas sexually harassed her. Although Thomas was confirmed to the Supreme Court, Hill insisted that by letting her story be known she accomplished everything she set out to do. "All that's happened has made the public much more aware of sexual harassment than ever before," said Hill.

Middle, Left - G-7 ECONOMIC SUMMIT - Leaders of the world's 7 largest industrial democracies began arriving in London on July 14, 1991, for an economic summit focusing on aid for the U.S.S.R. Mikhail Gorbachev spoke with the leaders of Britain, Canada, France, Germany, Italy and Japan. Chancellor Helmut Kohl will host the next summit in Munich, Germany in July 1992.

Left - BIOSPHERE 2 - Earlier this year, eight people entered their sealed "home" for the next two years. Biosphere 2 hopes to be the model for other self-sufficient environments on other planets one day. Much skepticism has been expressed by the scientific community, however. Many scientists seemed to feel this experiment a ridiculous sham.

AN UNFORGETTABLE EXPERIENCE

"The reward of a thing well done, is to have it done."

-Ralph Waldo Emerson

We would like to thank everyone who was involved in the creation of this book from day one. And a special thanks to all those who went above and beyond work on their own section and came in with a minute's notice.

-Kathlene Kielbania and Sarah Kittredge

EXTRA SPECIAL THANKS TO:

Mr. Potvin for always being our "fearless leader".

Mr. Lendry for putting up with us.

Mr. Steinmetz and Dave Moriarty for all of your quality photos.

Mr. Carellas and the Foreign Language Department for the use of the office, phone lab, and all those M+M's.

Roger, Joe, Mike, and all the Custodians for letting us come in at night, on the weekends, and over the summer.

Our Families for dealing with the Black Hole and making 60-minute photo runs.

RETIREMENTS

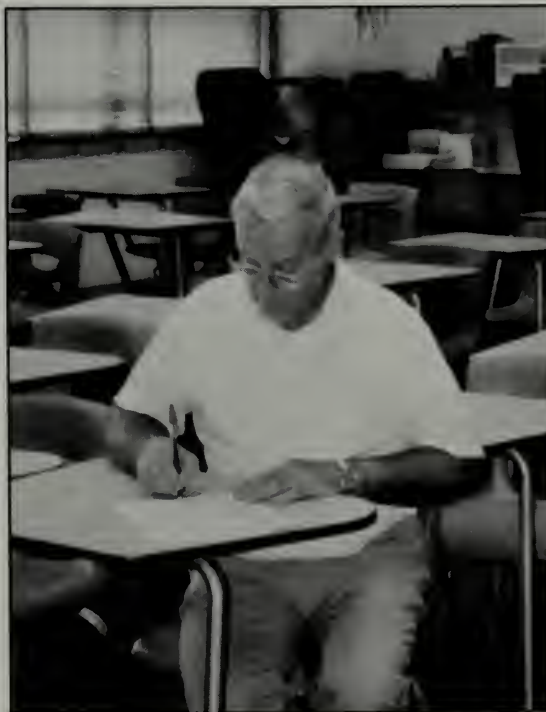

Longmeadow High School is a special place, in part because of its caring, dedicated teachers. This year, LHS said good-bye to two outstanding teachers, Mr. George Griffin and Dr. Gilbert Lamarre.

Mr. Griffin was a math teacher at LHS for twenty-six years, as well as the Math Club's advisor for fifteen years. He is remembered for his down-to-earth approach to mathematics, which made it a more appealing and understandable subject to his students. Phrases such as, "Hey folks, wait a while, wait a while," have relaxed students and helped them make it through the difficult aspects of math. About LHS, Mr. Griffin will most remember "the great teachers and the great kids. Longmeadow High School is a great place to work and I really enjoyed it." Besides playing golf with Mr. Conway, Mr. Griffin plans to sit back and "smell the roses" during his retirement.

Dr. Lamarre is also a teacher with extensive experience. During his 43 years of teaching, Lamarre taught all over the world and has been a principal in Japan. Lamarre has taught every grade through graduate school. When Lamarre came in 1956, he was impressed by the "beautiful people in Longmeadow who love to learn." Lamarre will fondly remember the Class of 1992 as the only class which he taught in kindergarten and later taught again in high school. Because of this special tie, Dr. Lamarre wrote 100 college recommendations for 1992 students. Dr. Lamarre's jovial attitude and kindness will be missed at LHS. However, Lamarre will happily pass his time fishing and teaching at the University of Maine at Portland during retirement.

The unforgettable mark that both Mr. Griffin and Dr. Lamarre have made on LHS will remain indellable in our minds.

Ashley Cole

Far Left- Mr. Griffin is known for always adding levity to his classes in order to make learning mathematics easier and more fun.

Unforgettable, in every way
And forever more that’s how you’ll stay ... ”
